Keyboard: Ghana Unicode – Full

Introduction

This keyboard is used for typing a full set of non-English characters used in Ghanaian languages.

Keystrokes Used

This section has tables showing the key strokes for the keyboard and what they produce.

Keys replaced by non-English characters and diacritics

The following keys are replaced by non-English characters:

[→ ɛ	{ → Ɛ	] → ɔ	} → Ɔ	= → ŋ	+ → Ŋ
x → ɪ	X → ɪ	q → ʊ	Q → ʊ

There are five diacritics that replace the corresponding regular characters. They are, high tone ó, low tone ò, nasalization õ, circumflex ô, and underline o̲. The characters they replace are, respectively: apostrophe ('), grave accent (`), and circumflex accent (ˆ), tilde (~) and underscore (_). They can be stacked. Type them following the character they will modify:

	' → ó	` → ò	~ → õ	ˆ → ô	_ → o̲
Examples:	a' → á	E` → È	]~ → ɔ̃	q̂ → ʊ̂	e_ → e̲	o_~` → õ̲̀

; (semicolon key) followed by any of the above keystrokes gives the original character:

;[→ [	;{ → {	;] →]	;} → }	;= → =	;+ → +
;x → x	;X → X	;q → q	;Q → Q
;' → '	;` → `	;~ → ~	;ˆ → ˆ	;_ → _

The following non-English characters can be produced by typing a semicolon in front of the regular English keystroke:

;d → ɖ	;D → Đ	;f → ʄ	;F → Ƒ	;g → ɣ	;G → Ɣ
;e → ə	;E → Ǝ	;z → ʒ	;Z → Ʒ
